PASSPORT AND SELFPAY COMPANY FORM PARTNERSHIP

FRANKLIN, Tenn. and CHICAGO – Passport Health Communications, Inc. has announced a strategic partnership with Chicago-based SelfPay Company, LLC.

SelfPay Company provides charity care assessment and segmentation through its iSolutions product and batch eligibility data mining through its eRevolution Payer Search product. Providers using Passport's insurance eligibility verification services, whether in a real-time, batch or integrated model, will be able to integrate data from SelfPay Company to identify additional possible coverage and aid in making decisions regarding patient financial assistance. Likewise, providers using SelfPay Company can gain additional functionality, efficiency and accuracy by using Passport's products.

“This partnership is a great collaboration for Passport and SelfPay Company. We are working together to provide a broader scope of information to our clients as well as helping them to use it in more intelligent ways,” said Robin Bradbury, president of SelfPay Company.

SelfPay Company also offers a billing component for the additional eligibility coverage(s) identified through its eRevolution Payer product, which will tie in with claims and billing services provided by The Cosand Group, a member of the Passport family of companies located in Springfield, Ill.

SelfPay Company is the most recent of approximately 10 corporate partnerships Passport has established in 2008.

“The Passport Synergy+ partnership program is our network of companies that can provide additional benefit to our clients,” said Passport Chief Sales and Marketing Officer Jeff Drake. “We believe SelfPay Company will be of high interest to hospitals given the focus they are putting on accessing comprehensive patient data, and the need to use that data to improve their financial decision-making. The primary mission of every hospital is to serve patients, and better financial standing through efficient operations ensures dollars are available for high quality care.”
